THERE is reason to fear that trouble is store for the Government in connection with the conviction of some of the participators in the recent procession for assaulting the police. of the Kwangtung Inundation Relief Fund. As is stated in our local column, a numerously signed petition has been presented praying for the remission of the penalty imposed. it may be taken for granted that it is temperately and respectfully worded; otherwise General to have refused to receive it. But if this be the character of the language employed in the potition it is certainly not the character of that employed in conversation openly expressed resolve to coerce the salved from the Glenfruin. Government into granting the petition, should they decline to do so voluntarily, by "general strike" means, we presume, that The craft of the heathen is past all belief. it would not be confined to any particular trade, but that all the guilds would order de Jonquieres, of the French gunboat Aspic, has their members to cease work and that business would be suspended in all or almost all branches. It is impossible that the Government can yield to this importment attempt at dictation. The petition would probably have been refused in any case, but when it is coupled with threats of this kind no choice is July, 1886 left in the matter. To grant it now would exercise complete control over the Government. If the refusal of the petition should her voyage when the storm was over. lead to a strike the matter will be an extremely serious one, not only on account of | the loss it will entail on the trade of the and departures of Chinese from that port since children, but only to save those who would golony, but also on account of the danger of riots similar to those which took place a little over twelve months ago. The situation is one in which firmness coupled with tact is writing under date of October 31st, says:-- The required—firmness to maintain the dignity of the law and tact to avoid any outbreak of violence or resistance. It is especially to be &c., has been adopted."—It will be remembered desired that on this occasion the Government

The petition has manner in which the advertisement is sent for insertion in every publication for three is said that if the prayer of the petition is not months without any stipulation as to price is granted a general strike will probably take alone calculated to raise doubt as to its bond fide character. But the firm of Messrs. Prim-BERTON, AYER & Co. is quite unknown to us, although they profess to have their head office in London, and branches in Manchester, Edinburgh, Dublin, Glasgow, Leeds, Bristol, and Birmingham. The London address given, "London, E.C." is certainly somewhat vague, and as the New York address is in a low locality, and as PEMBERTON AYER & Co. do not appear in the New York. Directory, we are unable to identify them as respectable advertising agents, and unless forwarded by some firm with whom we are acquainted by repute it is our rule to decline fitable field for the employment of capital might. Police Office, Hengkong, 11th November, 1885. SIR. - I have the honour to report, for the information of His Excellency the Governor, that I hear that owing to the successful arrangements of the Chinese Authorities for the suppression of salt smugglers, these men have lost their usual employment, and it is probable that they will resort to piracy. It would therefore be advisable for all small steamers and sailing vessels to take some precautions against attacks.

One of the crew went forward and on looking over the bow discerned a large fish which had been struck by the ressel clean in the centre and was bent back slightly on each side. A beat-hook was brought and the fish securely caught under the gill, but it was so heavy that it took six of the crew to hanl it on deck. It proved to be a fine specimen of the sun-fish, and measured 3ft. 4in, by 2ft. 6in. The sun-fish is described as a soft-finned plectoquathous, a sea-fish of the genus Orthogoriscus mola, supposed to be so named from its nearly circular form and shining surface. A dinner was given on the 27th ult., in the house of a watchman named Li Ki Tuk, in the employ of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co., a prominent member of the Triad Society, at which there were about ten present, and all were solemnly sworn to secrecy. Loung Asau's death was resolved upon, and one of the band was selected to carry out the deed, for which he was SERVIA DECLARES WAR AGAINST to receive $150. Their plans were laid, and in accordance with them Leung A.au was invited to smoke opium in a house at Tai Tam Tuk. He was in the house till late, and he walked out in company with the conspirators. When they reached a spot lonely and retired enough to suit the purpose, the selected assassin, who was walking beside Leung Asau, suddenly plunged knife into his body. Asau raised a cry of "save life," and then fell to the ground, and died. He was wrapped up in a mat and buried forthwith on the hillside. As soon as the police received the information, they obtained warrants for twelve men, but it seems the conspirators got wind of it-too soon and only three were arrested. P.S. Butlin arrested a coolie named Li Aloi, and Inspectors Perry and Mackie arrested two men named Lum Afuk and Liu Tin Po. Li Ki Tuk, the man who gave the dinner, and Yau Kwai Sau, the injured husband, were not to be found, and the wife, who was arrested, could not or would not say where her husband was to be found, or give any information to the police. Lo Akwai, the man who first let the secret leak out, feared the vengeance of the Triad Society, and he disappeared also. Li Aloi, the man whom P.S. Butlin arrested, is the one whose hand is alleged to have committed the murder. The grave was pointed ont and opened, and a body was found, but it was in such an advanced state of decomposition as to be unrecognisable, and the Coroner will not hold an inquest upon it as identification will be impos-

It is greatly to be feared, for the reasons stated above, that this very grave crime will go ununished. At present the police have absolute ly no evidence against the men in custody, as their informers merely speak from hearmy, and that is no evidence. There is but small prospect of getting any evidence though the police are working very hard to rake some up, and as in the Tsat Teze Mui case, our laws-effective enough in civilised England-seem quite inadequate when applied to people of this half civilised class

FROM A CORRESPONDENT. 13th November. The first trial of the two torpedo boats recently arrived from Germany for the Chinese Government, took place on Thursday last. His Excellency Hsi Taotai, accompanied by Hsu-tajen and Mr. J. A. Betts, C.E., went on board at Whampac about 4 p.m., and after inspecting the hoats proceeded for a short trip down to Yu-chau. No accurate measurement of speed was taken, as the trial was only intended to test the engines and torpedo gear, and only 90 to 100lbs. of steam was carried, but with this steam when going full speed about 16 knots an hour was obtained. Two "Whitehead" (or rather the German copy the "Whitehead") torpedoes were discharged from the torpedo tubes, under a pressure of 80 | atmospheres, and travelled along in very good style for a distance of about 400 yards, when they rose to the surface and were recovered. As the boats have been so recently in Hongkong no description of them is necessary, but they are cortainly very handy under steam and steer beauti. fully. There is also very much more room below than is usual in this class of boats. When the speed trial is made it is hoped they will reach 20 knots per hour. Whampon is becoming quite an important place again. There are usually four or five steamers lying there, and what with the shipbuilding and the work carried on at the Torpedo Department it looks quite busy.

The whole of the torpedoes and cables have The Cosmopolitan Cup, value, Tls. 150; second now been removed from the river, but the obstructions in the Back Reach still remain and are likely to do so, as His Excellency the Viceroy is opposed to their removal. > DEATH OF "JOSH HILLINGS." SAN FRANCISCO, 15th October. H. W. Shaw, or, as he is better known, "Josh Billings," died suddenly yesterday morning at the Hotel Del Monte, Monterey. M. Shaw, for some time past, has been in feeble health, and came to this coast toward the latter part of Au FOR SWATOW, AMOY, AND FOOCHOW gust for the benefit hoped to be obtained by a FIHE Company's Steamship change of climate. He delivered but one lecture in this city, and that was given at the Young Men's Christian Association Hall, September 3rd, on the subject of the "Probabilities of Life -Perhaps Rain and Perhaps Not."

Mr. Shaw was born in Lanesborough, Mass., in 1818, and for twenty-five years lived in various Western States, where he was successively farmer and anctioneer. In 1858 he settled in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where he acted as anctioneer. It was not until 1863 that he began to write for the papers, and the humorous articles which appeared over the signature of "Josh Billings" became immediately popular. He soon entered the lecture field and was equally successful there. He has published several volumes of comic sketches, and edited an annual Allminax. which had a wide circulation. His complete works were published in 1876.

The following telegram gives the particulars of his sudden death: MONTEREY, Cala, 14th October. Dr. Heintz was called to the Hotel Del Monte at about 9.45 a.m. to see Josh Billings, whom he found there sitting in a chair by the fire in the grand hall, or vestibule, apparently in good health, nothing beyond a severe pain in the chest troubling him. He said: "My dootors East ordered complete rest from brain work, but," throwing back his long hair, "you can see that I do not have to work my brain for a simple lecture. It comes spontaneously; but sometimes I am dizzy und everything swims, and all kinds of noises are in my head." While thus taiking he threw his hands over his head and fell backwards. He was carried to his room, and in three minutes was dead. The body is being embalmed to be sent East. His wife is here. The face of the dead humorist shows no sign of pain and seems perfectly natural. He was to lecture here Friday night for the benefit of the local Lodge of Good Templars. He was a general favourite at the hotel, always good natured, and his light-hearted joke seemed spontaneous.

RESPONSIBLE GOVERNMENT FOR

MAURITIUS. By the mail despatched to Mauritius on the 21st ult. the Secretary of State for the Colonies forwarded the Letters Patent for a change in the Advices received here state that a deputation | Constitution of the Government of that island to from Meimanch has arrived at Morv to complain the Governor, Sir John Pope Hennessy. The of Afghan oppression and to solicit Russian event is of the greatest importance to Mauritius, because for 75 years—that is, since the British wrested Mauritius from France in 1810-it has been virtually governed from Downing street The change has been brought about after considerable agitation. Mr.J. Henniker Heaton, who years by nine ironclads, having a total tonnage | represe: d in England the views of those who desired the change, in April of last year obtained from Lord Derby a promise to grant the people the right of electing their own representatives | Captain Webster, due here on 19th instant, wi French troops have captured Thanmai and to the Legislative Council. This was not considered quite satisfactory, because the Crown had the power of nominating a certain number of representatives beside those who are known as official members, such as the commander of the troops and the Colonial Secretary, and it was feared that these gentlemen would prove too powerful and would outvote the true representatives of the people. Mr. Heaton laid these views before Lord Derby who finally saw no objection to granting the Mauritians "full control over their local and financial affairs as distinguished from matters of Imperial concern." A Commission to settle the franchise was next appointed, and on the 29th of July the new Secretary of State for the Colonies, Colonel Stanley, telegraphed to the Governor of -Mauritius approving-of-an increase in the number of members to be elected in order to give a preponderance of these in the new Legislative Council, and adding "The Order in Council will ! be prepared without loss of time." It is more liberal and more just than the Council containing six elected members which Lord Derby had granted in the first instance. It is better suited to the wants and to the wishes of Mauritius. It will better satisfy all opinions, all classes, and all interests." The Hon. C. H. Adam followed in supporting the views of the last speaker. The Hon. W. Newton was sure that the good tidings announced by his Excellency would be -hailed-with much satisfaction by the whole colony, in presence of Colonel Stanley's telegram, it might now be hoped that the new Constitution would soon be in operation.
